Major Headlines

Crude Oil WTI shows RSI divergence at $95.70: Hourly levels

Crude Oil WTI is currently trading at $95.70 on the 5-hour chart, with a strong bullish trend still in place—but momentum signals are flashing caution as bearish RSI divergence emerges and price hugs the upper Bollinger Band. The key risk: a potential pullback looms if support near $93.70 gives way, so traders face a classic uptrend-versus-exhaustion showdown.

Gold choppy as investors eye weaker dollar, Treasury yield pressure

Gold prices were choppy on Thursday, oscillating around $4,400 an ounce, as support from a softer U.S. dollar was offset by higher Treasury yields and persistent Middle East tensions. At 06:10 ET (10:10 GMT), spot gold had fallen 0.2% to $4,392.61 an ounce, while gold futures slipped 0.6% to $4,435.25 an ounce. Gold has hovered around the $4,400 level in recent weeks after rebounding from a floor near $4,000 in July.

S&P 500, Dow futures attempt recovery ahead of inflation report

Futures tracking the Dow and the S&P 500 indexes attempted a recovery after a three-day slide, as investors cautiously returned to equities ahead of inflation data later on Thursday. The festering conflict in the Middle East has pushed oil prices above $100 a barrel for the first time since July, clouding the outlook for equities and reinforcing expectations that interest rates could be raised this month.

USD/JPY Price Forecast: Trades above 153.50 ahead of US inflation; bearish bias remains

The USD/JPY pair seesaws between tepid gains and minor losses through the first half of the European session on Thursday, consolidating its recent heavy losses to a nearly seven-month low, touched earlier this week. Spot prices currently trade just above mid-153.00s, nearly unchanged for the day, as traders now look to US inflation figures for a fresh impetus.

EUR/USD Price Forecast: Consolidates around 1.1640 in countdown to ECB's policy decision

The Euro (EUR) trades in a tight range at around 1.1640 against the US Dollar (USD) during the European trading session on Thursday. The major currency pair consolidates as investors await the European Central Bank's (ECB) monetary policy decision, which will be announced at 12:15 GMT. In the policy meeting, the ECB is widely anticipated to hike its Deposit Facility Rate by 25 basis points (bps) to 2.5%. Firm ECB interest rate hike expectations underscore the monetary policy statement and President Christine Lagarde's press conference as key triggers for the euro's next move.
